DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1 and 3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Krofchalk.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Krofchalk in view of Collins et al. Krofchalk discloses the claimed invention except for the transparent or translucent door. Collins et al. teaches that it is known to provide doors which are transparent or translucent as set forth at column 3, lines 64-68. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to for the door of Krofchalk to be transparent or translucent, as taught by Collins et al. in order to view there through.
5. Claim 4 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Krofchalk in view of Corwin. Krofchalk discloses the claimed invention except for claimed airflow directions. Corwin teaches that it is known to provide a fan ventilator with multiple modes of operation as set therein. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide the fans of Krofchalk with the claimed air flow directions, as taught by Corwin in order to effect desired air flow.

6. Claims 5 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Krofchalk in view of Janus et al. Krofchalk discloses the claimed invention except for the adjustable frame. Janus et al. teaches that it is known to provide a filtration system with an adjustable frame as set forth at column 2, line 16. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide the frame of Krofchalk with adjustability, as taught by Janus et al. in order to fit different size openings.

7. Claims 5, 6, 9, 10, 12 and 16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Krofchalk in view of Tucker et al. Krofchalk discloses the claimed invention except for the expandable frame and shield. Tucker et al. teaches that it is known to provide the door with an expandable frame and shield as set forth at column 4, line 63, 64 and column 5, line 8. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide the door of Krofchalk with an expandable frame and shield, as taught by Tucker et al. in order to allow for adjustment to different size opening along with sealing.

Allowable Subject Matter

8. Claims 11 and 17 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Claim Objections

9. Claim 18 is objected to because of the following informalities: Claim 18 is a duplicate of claim 2. Appropriate correction is required.

Election/Restrictions

10. Claims 7, 8 and 13-15 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected species, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in the reply filed on September 19, 2005.

Conclusion

11. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
